

PRESS RELEASE

March 2015

For Immediate Release

Contact:

Edmund Finamore

Ph: 412 299-5684

Valutech Solutions Celebrates 15 Year Milestone as Smart Grid/Load Management Consultancy

Moon Township, PA- March 10, 2015- Valutech Solutions Inc., a leading provider of AMI, meter data management and smart grid consulting services in the U.S. and Canada, announced this month that it has reached the 15 year milestone in providing smart metering/smart grid services and support to the utility sector. Long known for its specialized skills in AMI and meter data management, Valutech has expanded its practice into the related areas of load management, customer information systems and billing, outage management and distribution automation. The company provides consultancy services to investor owned, municipal and rural electric utilities for a full range of smart grid systems, components and applications.

Valutech's experienced industry professionals provide utilities with unmatched experience in all areas of smart grid strategy, planning, business case analysis and RFP support. With extensive hands-on experience in smart grid project management, Valutech excels in supporting smart grid installation efforts, contracting and implementation services. Scores of utilities across the United States and Canada have benefited from the expertise Valutech brings to bear on smart grid related initiatives.

"We are extremely fortunate to have achieved such broad industry success in our 15 year smart grid practice", comments Ed Finamore, Valutech's President. "This success is a testament to our deep industry knowledge, experience and skills, and the quality of services we have been able to provide to the utility industry over the years. We especially appreciate the close working relationships we have developed with utility managers from across the utility sector."

Valutech's expertise is much sought after to provide expert witness testimony in various smart grid proceedings and forums across the U.S. and Canada, and has been a valuable source of industry expertise in rate case filings and investment activities in smart grid and related markets. Valutech's smart grid practice has been especially valuable to municipal utilities who must respond to regulatory and energy cost pressures, and whose non-profit mission presents a different kind of business case with a strong emphasis on delivering top tier customer service.

About Valutech Solutions

Valutech Solutions provides smart grid consulting services to investor owned, municipal and rural electric utilities, energy marketers and load management organizations in the utility industry. Specializing in AMI, MDM, load management, utility automation and home energy management (HAN) applications, Valutech Solutions helps utilities to plan, purchase and install smart grid systems, programs and applications. For more information, call Valutech Solutions at 412 299-5684, or e-mail: info@valutechsolutions.com.

XXX